Big Ideas/Key Concepts:
Students develop interpersonal communication by discussing family and cultural events, movies, and entertainment options. There is an emphasis on refining knowledge of complex grammatical concepts and sentence structure using infinitives, prepositions, and relative pronouns. Students practice expressing themselves in the progressive and conditional tenses. Continuing knowledge of the subjunctive mood is emphasized through the use of the past perfect subjunctive. Students will continue to develop tools for experiencing and responding to literature through reading and interacting with authentic texts. Written expression is developed through narration and evaluating written work.
